

 Advent ~ Saturday, December 20

For me, Advent has always been a time of impatience. Impatience for the service on Christmas Eve, for the sparkling lights that are strung all around, and for Christmas Carols.

Advent has always been a time of waiting, for some (the choir members) Advent is a time of stress, but whether your participation is as a member of the congregation, acolyte, or chorister, Advent always leads up to a time of joy that we all share as one.
