

Advent ~ Friday, December 5

---

During Advent I always love to sing the song, “The Little Drummer Boy.” I know it isn’t historically accurate, but I love the rhythm of the song and the simple lyrics. As I get older and find myself listening to the words in the song and picturing what the little drummer boy may have looked like, I also find myself wondering the strangest things . . .

How might the drummer boy have heard about baby Jesus?

Why was he alone?

Did he travel far?

And then I wonder, while I have most everything I could ever ask for, what would I bring baby Jesus as my own offering?
